Erasmus+ offers a unique opportunity to Moldovan students who are willing to continue their studies abroad. They can apply for a short-term mobility scholarship for BA and MA studies. The winners will get a scholarship of circa 750 Euros per month, but this amount varies and depends of country. They can get 750 Euros or more.

I have applied for Erasmus+ scholarship shortly after seeing an announcement in university. I prepared all papers and applied. I was really surprised when four months later I have received a letter confirming that I got the scholarship. Two months later I was already studying in Thessaloniki, Greece. I studied TV journalism. I successfully finalized the BA studies and after that I also got a MA degree in journalism. After seven years I am a journalist as you see.
